Osler's Notes

You will not only be better, but happier men, if you endeavour to do your duty day by day, not from self interest, not from any outside aim however high, simply because it is right, content to let the reward come when it will.