

thank you letter

Dear Sir/Madam

I am deeply grateful for your kind assistance in the form of a bursary, valued at $3600. This donation will help ease much financial burden off my family. I can be more independent with respect to financing daily living expenses such as transport, textbooks and food costs. I am happy that this bursary will give more financial freedom to my parents, as I can be expected to be more self-sufficient, even if minimally. They can live with less financial concern and worry, as well as channel more resources to the academic pursuits of my younger siblings.

Personally, I view this bursary as a sign of sincere support from the Singapore Medical Association as I strive for success in my medical career. The donation will alleviate the background but persistent concerns I have with regards to the financial needs of being in a very demanding course. It is indeed heartening and inspiring to know that there are senior doctors in the profession who care about the well-being of their juniors, and are willing to do much to help ensure that the journey through medical school is never troublesome or financially unfair. In my opinion, the best way to immortalise this spirit of giving and care will be to continue this tradition of help, and achieve excellence in health provision standards.

I have to reiterate that I am thankful for the help rendered from the Singapore Medical Association. Rest assured, I am more determined to do well in school, as a way of saying thanks to my donors. Your contribution will be impactful, and is very much appreciated.

*Yours sincerely,
A grateful medical student*
